

LYRICS

To be used with RRR song "Parts of Speech"

Chorus

So you wanna know about nouns, you wanna know about verbs
And you probably know that there are several other types of words
So if you yearn to learn, hey, we're psyched to teach
Now listen up and let me tell you about the parts of speech.

Verse I

A noun is a person or a place or a thing
Like you or your school or all your bling-bling
But the tricky kinds of nouns are ideas and thoughts
Like your strength or intelligence
Man there are lots of these nouns
To list them all, that would be impressive!

But to describe them, all we need are adjectives
Like hot, cool, false, true, spicy, or bland
And now I think you understand

Chorus

So you wanna know about nouns, you wanna know about verbs
And you probably know that there are several other types of words
So if you yearn to learn, hey, we're psyched to teach
Now listen up and let me tell you about the parts of speech.

Verse II

Verbs. That's what we call the action words
Anything you can do, even if it's absurd
Whenever you eat, drink, move, think, go, or stop
Even if you just are, that's a verb that you've got

"But, Mr. Jackson, how do I describe these words?"
You use another part of speech we call adverbs
Like loudly, proudly, and well, don't ask me why, but Most of them end in -ly.

Chorus

So you wanna know about nouns, you wanna know about verbs
And you probably know that there are several other types of words
So if you yearn to learn, hey, we're psyched to teach
Now listen up and let me tell you about the parts of speech.

Verse III

A preposition gives location, just so you know
Whether an object is between, in, by, or below
But it can also talk about time, as a matter of fact;

If something happened before this, or is gonna happen after that They always have a prepositional phrase
it's the traditional way that every preposition operates
So just make sure that the object is there
Or else you'll never know what goes where

Chorus

So you wanna know about nouns, you wanna know about verbs
And you probably know that there are several other types of words
So if you yearn to learn, hey, we're psyched to teach
Now listen up and let me tell you about the parts of speech.

Verse IV

A conjunction joins phrases or words together
Like and, but, or, as, if, and whether
Some appear in pairs, like neither and nor,
You know I'd love to list them all but there are so many more

So let's go on to pronouns, they replace nouns
So you can say "it" instead of saying the same noun again
It can be just a breeze, you see
Instead of names, saying "he" or "she"

Chorus

So you wanna know about nouns, you wanna know about verbs
And you probably know that there are several other types of words
So if you yearn to learn, hey, we're psyched to teach
Now listen up and let me tell you about the parts of

Verse V

Hold up! Almost forgot about the next one
I'm speaking, of course, of the interjection:
Whoa!, yo!, yikes!, holy cow!
You know the parts of speech well I think you do now
